Thoroughness and Neatness Pay.

Intelligent observers have generally noted the fact that in every rural neighborhood the prosperous farmers are almost invariably those who keep their buildings painted, fences in good repair let you run the ranch! Now I'll see to paying Birdie very assiduous attentions and their fields free from stone, weeds and rubbish. Of course it may be said that men who have plenty of money can When he saw her coming and noticed afford to spend it for keeping up appear- the color of her eyes, he locked up his ance. But this is evidently not the full medicine-chest and calmly began: explanation of this coincidence of facts. Men who make money, especially in farming, are least inclined to lay it out merely for show. It may be safely put is a cake of scented toilet soap for the down as a general rule that the work | lady who prevented her husband from performed by most thrifty farmers is in admitting his constitutional ailments in the direction of profit, hence, as neat- the presence of a life insurance agent. ness commonly goes with thrift, it is Who takes the first pair?"-Detroit quite as likely to be one of its causes as | Free Press. one of its effects. There are exceptions to this rule, as to all others. Some farmers accumulate money still more rapidly, not by increasing their income. but by a system of grinding parsimony, by robbing themselves and cheating not effectual. It doesn't do to misretheir families to put dollars in their member in that court. The Herald purses. These are not examples to be says: "Mr. Will Tucker was before the imitated. The aim of most reasonable men is not only to make money, but in the meantime to live in a reasonable and comfortable manner. To accomplish these objects it is not difficult to prove that neatness is essential. There are many reasons why habits of neatness in farming lead to success. Such habits are none too common, and in every business the men who do their work in the most thorough manner get the best pay. The world is full of poor work that of necessity can be poorly paid. The farmer who grows his crops among weeds can never sell his grain at the highest market price, while the extra care needed to secure absolute purity is sure to be proportionately well paid. Farmers understand this well enough, as is shown by their periodic endeavors to secure pure seed for sowing and planting. If we go to almost any market we will find that the bulk of crops is more or less mixed, and, therefore, unsalable for seed and undesirable for any purpose. Almost every spring there is an active demand for seed barley, free from oats or other varieties of barley, and not infrequently farmers buy from seed stores, paying from two to four times the price at which they sold their grain the fall previous. In almost any neighborhood a farmer who will grow pure seed of the various grains will find a demand for his entire stock at prices enough better than market rates to assure him a profit. When we are told that farming is not profitable, the implication is that reference is made to the common slovenly method. The fancy kinds of farming, such as growing seeds and garden vegetables, nearly always pay those who intelligently conduct them. Yet seed growing and gardening are really as true farming as growing hay or making butter and cheese. They are only better paid because they cannot be conducted without close attention to details, and it is in this that neatness consists. - American Cultivator. .

The County Judge of Milam has a system of memory which is severe, if court as a witness in a certain gambling case, when he was asked to give the names of others engaged in the game. Mr. Tucker said he did not remember. He was told that a more definite answer must be given, which Mr. Tucker declined to do. The court fined him $10 and sent him to jail. In a short time the court sent for him, and repeated the question before asked, Mr. Tucker answering again that he did not remember. The court fined him $100 and sent him back to jail. This was repeated twice more, during which time Mr. Tucker became quite angry, and was adjudged guilty of contempt of court. He was then sent back to jail until the fines were paid. Friends deposited $310, the amount of the fines, and Mr. Tucker was released. A petition was sent to Gov. Ireland to have at least a part of the fines remitted. The court, we understand, gave as a reason for insisting on an answer from Mr. Tucker that he had heard Mr. Tucker say that if he should be brought up as a witness, he would make it convenient to forget who were the offenders. - Galveston (Tex.) The Burglar Under a Couch.

Nine out of ten women probably look under their bed every night before retiring to rest in search of the muchdreaded burglar, and possibly one women in a thousand millions has discovered that often-looked-for visitor, What happened on those rare occasions history saieth not, although, considering the universality of the search, some general rule as to the measures to be taken in case of discovery ought by this time to have been pretty well estab lished. In default of such standing orders the example of Mrs. Crolly, whose case is reported from Dublin, may be commended for imitation by the rest of her sex. Finding a man concealed under a couch in her drawingroom, she immediately locked him in, sent for a constable, and then, without waiting for the arrival of the police, she armed herself with a revolver, re-entered the drawing room and threatened to shoot the intruder if he stirred. He remained motionless under the sofa, covered by the muzzle of Mrs. Crolly's revolver, until the arrival of the constable, when he was carried off in custody. But how many women, it may be asked have either the nerve or the revolver of Mrs. Crolly? Those who lack either or both will probably console themselves by reflecting that there is no woman who cannot scream, and, with few exceptions, a scream is as effective for scaring a burglar off the premises as a dozen revolvers .- Pall Mall Gazette.

The Feeling of Relief That Not Too Much Poetry Gives.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

On The Chickahominy.

Under date of May 8, 1883, Con. S. F. TIBBITTS, of Dover, N. H., sends us the following; "While on duty in the army of the Potomac in the swamps of the Chickshominy I contracted a complication of diseases that culminated in spinal trouble, paralysis on one side, and severe disease of the kidneys and bladder, and great urinal weakness. For a long time I was under the treatment of the best physicians, and tried many of the so-called remedies, but received no permanent benefit. When I was in the drug business in Boston I heard favorable accounts of the efficacy of Hunt's Remedy for diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs, and having decided to give it a trial, I purchased some at Wingate's drug store, Dover, N. H., and have received great relief from using it. The severe pains in my back are removed, and I am able to sleep soundly and obtain rest at night-which for so long a time I could not do, and the weakness in the urinary organs has been relieved, and I greatly regret that I did not test the great merits of Hunt's Remedy when I was first taken sick, as I am confident it would have saved me from several years of suffering; and I am more strongly convinced of this after hearing of the most remarkable cures effected by Hunt's Remedy in a case of Bright's Disease here in our midst in Doven, after the patient had been pronounced incurable by celebrated physicians."

SECRET AMONG THE LADIES

The brilliant, fascinating tints of Complexion for which ladies strive are chiefly artificial, and all who will take the trouble may secure them. These reseate, bewitching hues follow the use of Hagan's Mag-nolia Balm—a delicate, harmless and always reliable article. Sold by all druggists.

The Magnolia Balm conceals every blemish, removes Sallowness, Tan, Redness, Eruptions, all evidences of excitement and every imperfection. Its effects are immediate and so natural that no human being can detect its application.

Cures Consumption, Colds, Pneumonia, Influenza, Bronchial Difficulties, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, forthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Diseases o the Breathing Organs. It soothes and heals the Membrane of the Lungs, inflamed and poisoned by the disease, and prevents the night sweats and tights ness across the chest which accompany it. CON-SUMPTION is not an incurable malady. HALL'S BAL-

SAM will cure you, even though professional aid fails.
